

Seth Kirchhoff

Associate Director of Admissions, Graduate Programs
Graduate Military Liaison

Seth is a dynamic and award-winning leader in education. He is a former high school teacher, department chair, and adjunct professor who now leads the graduate programs admissions team for WashU's top-ranked Olin Business School. Seth has an MBA and a Master's in Teaching. He is also a doctoral scholar researching Leadership Development Programming.

Seth has experience in many industries, from small business ownership to corporate project management at Fortune 20 companies. He has been recognized for his work as a Department of Defense Consultant overseas, and has deployed to multiple war zones as a former US Army Infantry and Psychological Operations Officer.

Aside from his professional background, Seth is also a parent to multiple teenagers, a beagle owner, a certified Master Professional Woodworker, a real estate investor, a gym rat, a three-time finisher of the MR340 (the longest continuous canoe race in the world), and an avid reader of books on history, leadership, and organizational behavior.

---

Contact Information :

sethk@wustl.edu

LinkedIn